Support Stuttgart Women's Volleyball

Come support the Stuttgart Women's Volleyball Team when they host the U.S. Army Europe Women's Volleyball Finals Nov. 6 and 7 at the Panzer gym.

The Stuttgart team captured the southern region title, defeating Schweinfurt in the finals of a two-day tournament Oct. 23 and 24. Earlier, Stuttgart lost to Schweinfurt, which was ranked first in the southern region with the best win-loss record during the season.

But both teams will come to the net again. Stuttgart and Schweinfurt, the top two seeds of the Southern Region will compete against the top two seeds of the Northern Region. The winner of the Army Europe finals will meet the winner of the Air Force Europe finals in the last match of the season held at Ramstein Nov. 13 and 14.

As the countdown to the millennium begins, 6th ASG security officials would like to share some tips in the event that the Y2K bug does in fact bite. See this section of the Community Post each week.

Y2K Tip of the Week: Don't panic. Panic will only result in hoarding of goods and create the types of shortages government and industry leaders are trying to prevent.

Mark Down Next Holiday

Just a reminder to community members that Nov. 11 is Veterans Day. Most offices and businesses will be closed.

New Travel Services Contract in Effect

Carlson Wagonlit, the travel contractor servicing Army communities throughout Europe, was officially replaced by SatoTravel, Inc. Nov. 1.

With this change, which touts such improvements as corporate-class travel management and extended business hours, also comes a new venue for Stuttgart's travel-related services.

Since Sato handles both leisure and official travel under the agreement, both services are now housed under one roof in the former Official Travel Offices in building 7171 on Patch Barracks.

The Sato contract also yields greater freedom to clubs and groups planning overnight trips, something forbidden under the former contract with Carlson Wagonlit. The USO, for example, has already mapped out overnight trips for the rest of the year to include London for the Thanksgiving holiday and Paris for the millennium celebration. Call the USO, 430-5677/civ. 0711-680-5677, for details.

Room Rates Rise

Due to a recent Armywide mandate to include a Capital Reinvestment Assessment in all room rates, basic room rates in the Swabian Inn, Hilltop Hotel and Loisach Inn (Garmisch) will be increased by $6. This assessment will not be added to any guests presently residing in the hotels.
